THE Hongkong Telegraph.

HONGKONG, 11th JANUARY, 1882.

THE periodical appearance—certain and steady—of small-pox in the Colony makes the address of M. Pasteur at the recent International Medical Congress held in London of somewhat more than passing interest.
This distinguished savant propounds a bold theory—in conformity with reason and supported by experience —concerning the virus or contagious quality of transmissible diseases, which for novelty and originality quite eclipses the accidental and speculative discovery of Jenner. The address has been reproduced in extenso by the London Press, and a complete account of M. Pasteur's researches on the subject has been already promised the public.

The starting point of the theory is that it is possible to prepare (virus) cultures of varying degrees of virulence by a series of successive cultures as to so attenuate the virus that its virulence is inert while its reproductive capacity is unimpaired and active, or to use the words of M. Pasteur—"the microbe, the virulence of which is null, multiplies itself." Proceeding further, he says that "when we inoculate with the microbe, the virulence of which is null, there is not even local disorder, the natura medicatrix carries it off at once"—that is, the vital resistance is capable of overcoming any evil effects that may be induced by inoculation with attenu-ated virus. This conclusion is supported by observation and experiment.

It will be perceived how the discovery touches the principle of vaccination—the vaccine virus being only an attenuated form of small-pox virus, where "the harm done is so small in comparison with the risk avoided as to be not worth considering."

The value of M. Pasteur's discovery as applied to the prevention of trans-missible diseases—diseases which for the most part are fraught with terrible consequences both for man and domestic animals, is recognized and appreciated by the medical and scientific world. "It is not merely the most important physiological discovery of modern times, but the greatest pathological discovery of any time; a physiological discovery that may rank with that of Harvey; a pathological discovery which transcends that of Jenner in the same ratio that zymotic disease in general transcends the special form of zymotic disease which constitutes variola."

Telegrams for Bangkok can go forward by mail closing at Singapore at 9 a.m. on the 13th instant.

We learn that the Ocean Steamship Company's steamer Doucalion, from Liverpool, and the steamer Merionethshire, from London, both left Singapore yesterday for this port.

We learn that at the fire on the evening of the 8th instant in Peel Street, the delivery hose leading from No. 2 steamer which was stationed on the Praya up to the scene of the fire, was wilfully cut by some miscreant or other in Graham Street. A scoundrel of one of the men-of-war in harbour saw this done and seized the hose, but he was knocked down by some of the comrades of the blackguard, who managed to effect his escape. The damaged length was changed in a very short time and the engine was thus enabled to render good service.
It is a fact that at almost every fire which has occurred lately the hose has been cut; although up to the present not one of the culprits have been brought to justice. A reward of say $100 or $50 might lead to the capture of some of these scoundrels.

Fires would appear to be coming on us thick and fast just now. We have had no less than three fires within the last two or three weeks, and there is another one to report which occurred in carpenter's shop in Wellington-street early this morning. Fortunately it was quickly discovered, and several members of the Fire Brigade being handy, a few buckets of water prevented it from spreading, and it was eventually extinguished, the damage caused being of a trifling character.
There is something suspicious about the frequency of fires just before the Chinese New Year, which suggests incendiarism. Chinese present at the recent fire in Peel-street, declare that several coolies were seen throwing liquid, presumably kerosine, out of bottles on various parts of the burning building and the houses immediately adjoining. Thieves also got into the houses where the people had been ordered to move for safety sake, and stole jewellery and clothing, and in some instances the persons on resuming possession of their premises discovered they had not a rag left more than what they stood in.

The apparently interminable proceedings in the well known Sands v.
Forbes case, were again before Acting Chief Justice Snowden in the Supreme Court yesterday; the Attorney-General, instructed by Messrs. Denny and Mos-sop, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr.
Hayllar, Q.C., instructed by Messrs.
Brereton and Wotton, for the defendant. His Lordship now gave judgment on the motion of the defendant to vary the Registrar's report by striking out an item of over $2,000 allowed by the Registrar as interest on the amount found due by the defendant to the plaintiff. The plaintiff is the executrix and defendant the executor under the will of the late G. U. Sands.
In the course of the suit a compromise was effected by the defendant taking over the steamer Zephyr at a price of $76,000, $18,000 to be paid at once, and the remainder as the court might direct. On the settlement of accounts a sum of $16,542 was found to be due by the plaintiff, and it was on this amount that the interest was allowed.
His Lordship, briefly reviewed the history of the case, and decided that the Registrar's certificate must be altered by deducting the sum allowed for interest for the following reasons—(1) Because the balance due from Mr.
Forbes became a simple contract debt on which interest was not naturally payable. (2) That the decree being silent as to interest it must be presumed that the omission was intentional, under the circumstances of the purchase, but, if it was a mere omission, that proper steps to get it rectified by applying to the court after decree for further instructions to all low interest had not been taken; the interest claimed by the defendant was abandoned. The last ground was a technical one, but the defendant was entitled to every advantage after the hostile and harassing litigation he had been subjected to. Costs of the action to be paid out of the estate. His Lordship concluded by hoping that the case, was now finally settled, and that we heard the last of it.

A telegram dated London the 10th inst. announces that the British Consul at Cairo and the French Consul-General have each presented a note to the Khedive of Egypt undertaking to protect and maintain his authority.

We note from El Comercio that the Manila authorities have lately made an important capture of counterfeit coins. The usual coinage implements, together with a large quantity of counterfeit half dollar pieces were seized, the coins being an almost perfect imitation of the genuine article. As the nefarious practices of these scoundrels have apparently been carried on with impunity for a considerable period, judging from the quantity of spurious coins at present in circulation, it is to be hoped that the authorities will not err on the side of leniency.

A very important telegram was received from London yesterday afternoon, referring to the recent claims made by the United States Government to have absolute control over the Panama Canal. The organ of the Liberal Government the Daily News announces in a leading article that the Cabinet, after due deliberation, has decided to refuse to recognise the claims of the United States to the supreme control of the Isthmus of Panama Canal, on the grounds that such claims are contrary to International Law and the Bulwer-Clayton Treaty.

At the Police Court yesterday, Mr.
H. E. Wodehouse acknowledged the receipt of a donation of $100 from members of the Parsee community for the Poor Box, this amount to be specially devoted to the relief of the Chinese poor, at the discretion of the magistrates. This handsome gift, for which Mr. Wodehouse warmly thanked the donors, comes at a seasonable time, as many of the poorer classes of Chinese find it difficult to exist during the winter months. The example of our Parsee brethren might be followed with advantage by a number of our professional philanthropists who are fond of seeing their names on public subscription lists.

For the first time for a good many years the United States would appear to be on the verge of difficulties with other Powers. Chili, doubtless relying on the naval weakness of the Great Republic, has defied the American Government, and treated their wishes re Peruvian affairs with the utmost contempt. That a day of reckoning between Uncle Sam and the South American confederacy will come at no distant date may be reckoned upon with certainty; but the claims to American supremacy in the management of the Panama Canal will have to be withdrawn, or serious trouble with Great Britain, and possibly with other European Powers may be confidently anticipated.

TRAINING NOTES.

The proceedings at the race course this morning were the most interesting we have seen this season up to date, nearly the whole of the ponies in training going good training gallops. The course was in excellent order, although rather holding on the far side. Strathaven opened the ball by cantering nearly a mile, showing his old form, and pulling up sound. Strathpeffer and Con-ingsby, after a long spell of trotting, galloped once round at a slow pace, the Tientsin pony being unable to go fast enough to keep "Peffer" warm. East Wind, Dauntless, and Lord of the Isles went separately six furlongs at half speed; all moving well, and pulling up sound. Mr. Jedia's chestnut or dun griffin, and Mr. James's grey went striding along over the mile course, and although the newcomer appeared to have the best of the spin at the finish, the difference in weight of the riders would suggest that there was very little difference between the pair. Phantom and Spectre cantered at the usual slow rate believed in by their veteran trainer, and these ponies are certainly very attractive at this special pace, whatever they may look like when extended. Gang Forward and Lochiel galloped slowly over the Valley, Stakes course, the first named pulling over his stable companion—who was not liked by the talent—the entire journey. Mr. Sassoon's and Mr. Theo's white subscription ponies were sent together rather over seven furlongs, the first named gentleman's representative taking our fancy very much, and we think he will prove the better of the pair, although not much to look at. Rose, Shamrock, and Thistle were restricted to trotting exercise.

The first named and the griffin are chestnut, the winner of four races at Shanghai Autumn meeting is brown, and a handsome trio of race-ponies we would never desire to look upon.
However, handsome is that handsome does, and although both Rose and Shamrock have proved their excellence, Thistle has yet to win his spurs. After we have seen him sent along we shall be able to say what we think of his Derby prospects. Wild Eldy and Belmont went a long steady gallop grand form; but Wild Surf from the same powerful contingent hardly showed at his best. First Cornet and Second Violin cantered six furlongs, and Hualachan and a grey unnamed griffin in the same team did the same amount of work. A mob of Mr. Grammont's subscription ponies were poked, but we fancy that with one exception, to which we will allude by and bye, they are all moderate. Mr. Poesnecker's bay griffin was sent along at his best pace, but he is no flyer, nor are the East Point griffins of much account, excepting the big iron grey, which shows promise, and is a long striding pony with fairly good action. Gold Bar and Financier cantered, the fine sweeping stride of the Critter's winner being much admired, whilst the high fore-action which characterised First Chariot in his griffin days is still conspicuous in Gold Bar. Sunlight, winner at Hankow, is a nicely shaped pony, and gallops with so much resolution that he must be marked dangerous. The dun griffin in Mr. Gordon's team trotted about a couple of miles, finishing up with a sharp canter for nearly half a mile. Sirocco, one of Mr. Paul's Derby griffins, a second Bohemian on a rather smaller scale, galloped half a mile sharply, and Flycatcher went a steady spin for about a mile and a furlong. Pedrillo and Mr.
Henry's brown griffin cantered very steadily, Frascattelli and Grim Death repeating the performance. Wild Soud and Too-too (late Third Trumpet) did healthy exercise, the spotted roke pleasing good judges by his racing like appearance. Whisper, Souter Johnny, and Glengarry went three quarters of a mile, the "Souter" making a very poor show at the finish. Tajmahal, looking the picture of health, trotted nearly three miles. Moonbeam came out on the course, but was found to be lame, and immediately sent back to his stable.

CRICKET.

OVER THIRTY V. UNDER THIRTY.

Play in this return match was commenced at 12.20 yesterday, in excellent cricket weather, and on a remarkably fast wicket. The veterans, winning the toss, sent in I. D. Walker and Hynes to the onslaught of Charley and Bell Irving. The Middlesex "crack" was hardly in his usual form, and when the telegraph registered 17, of which number he had contributed seven, he was clean bowled by Charley. Stebbing was the incomer, and opened his account by hitting the medium pace bowler for a couple, his partner being in the meantime very busy, slogging with his accustomed vigour. An appeal by Charley for "caught and bowled" was given against Stebbing, although the decision was palpably an erroneous one, the ball bounding from the ground into the bowler's hands.
Stainforth joined Hynes, but without increasing the score and just before adjoining for tiffin the Secretary fell to a good ball from Irving, having scored 28, made up of two fours, four threes, a brace of twos, and singles, out of the total 43 for three wickets. On resuming play shortly after two o'clock Stainforth and I. Hughes faced the bowling of Travers and Charley, and playing in good form gradually increased the score. Hughes had scored eight, including a brace of threes, when he was caught off Travers at mid-off by one of the ground coolies fielding substitute for Wolseley. Whyte joined Stainforth and immediately commenced to score, hitting Charley for five threes, his partner also severely punishing the Fusilier's expresses.
Travers was at this time bowling magnificently, and when Hedley caught Stainforth behind the wicket, he had trundled nine overs, five maidens, for six runs, taking two wickets. Deane played cautiously at first, but gradually warming up he scored rapidly off Charley, although at this time neither he or his partner could do anything with Travers who was dead on the spot.

When Bell Irving relieved Charley, Travers had bowled 70 balls, eight maiden overs for 11 runs. The change produced no effect on both batsmen driving the new bowler all over the field, so Travers changed ends, and Charley resumed at the opposite wicket. After scoring 32 in his customary free style, Whyte was very smartly taken at slip by Travers, and Fraser-Smith who followed was clean bowled after making a single. Davies joined Deane, and another stand was made until a good ball from Charley proved too much for the last named, who retired with 21 to his credit, obtained by very good cricket, the retiring batsman's outting being clean and well timed. When S.
Hughes and Davies became associated the bowlers had a rough time of it, the debutant treating them all alike, and hitting everything within reach.
Hughes was bowled by Travers after totalling 13, the score standing 193 for nine wickets. Wilson, playing substitute for Forbes, who was distinguishing himself in the role of a British juryman, whipped in, and contributed 19, composed of one six, a brace of threes, and a leash of twos before hitting one of Irving's too long off, where Mayne cleverly secured it; leaving Davies to carry out his bat for a splendidly hit 40, made up of a quartette of fours, six threes, and three twos. The total innings amounted to 221, including 29 extras.
The felling of the juveniles was anything but brilliant, and the bowling, exceedingly weak.

With every prospect of a single innings defeat, Hedley sent in Travers and Tomkins, Hynes and Stebbing bowling for the veterans. After a maiden from the Secretary, Travers hit Stebbing for a couple and a single, and a run was scored for a bye. Hynes then bowled Tomkins for a cipher, the first wicket going for four runs. Bell Irving joined Travers and a most determined stand was made, although Travers was badly missed by Wilson when he had scored seven, and his partner gave Hynes a hard chance, which was not taken advantage of. The bowling was set at defiance, Travers especially slogging most unmercifully. Walker's lobs were tried at Stebbings' end, but they received some rough treatment, and after a rest Stebbings relieved Hynes, but still no separation could be effected. The telegraph board, registered 50, 60, 70, and 80 in rapid succession, both batsmen being well set, and playing good cricket. Irving was at length tempted to rush out at one of the lobs, and, missing, of course paid the penalty. Two for 86. Charley was the next comer, but he was sent back without adding to the score, Wilson smartly holding him at slip off Walker. Newcombe hit the lobs to the off for a couple, but was immediately afterwards thrown out by Hughes, a decision which apparently gave the retiring batsman great dissatisfaction.
Hedley joined Travers, but after scoring a single the game was adjourned until this morning.

Play was resumed this morning, Travers and Hedley, the "not outs" of the previous evening facing the deliveries of Hynes and Walker. The Engineer only added three to his overnight score, when he got his leg in the way, and Lane who followed was stumped by Hynes off Walker without adding to the score. Easton was the next batsman, but no stand was made, as Travers, tempted over the crease by a seductive lob, fell a victim to the wicket keeper, his total of 49 having been well played for, although he gave one easy chance to which we have already alluded. After the departure of Travers the end soon came, Hynes bowling Easton, and the lobs accounting for Saulter and Mayne—the former clean bowled, the latter stumped—leaving Earle, who played substitute for Wolseley, to carry out his bat for four, the innings closing for 112, including 10 extras. Being 119 to the bad, the youngsters had to follow on; Travers and Tomkins, as in the first innings, assuming the defensive against the attacks of Walker and Hynes. The innings was entirely devoid of interest, only one batsman—Hedley—reaching double figures, and the last wicket fell for a total score of 38 runs.
Walker bowled 41 balls, two maidens ments, and the Northern Ports, including Formosa; the Treaty Ports of China and Japan; the Philippine Islands; and the British Colony of Hongkong; and the Portuguese Colony of Macao. The work will also contain the Principal Treaties between European countries and the United States and the countries East of the Straits, together with conditions of Trade, and the Port, Customs, Con-
